

- Job description

To support the works of the engineering and sustainable teams for their project delivery and new business development. The intern will mainly support the study of renewable and sustainability topics, e.g., climate scenarios, natural capital, and green finance, but also need to help with the general work for the offshore wind technical and engineering study and planning. The daily work will include Other general work for desk-top studies, event support, and document translation.

- Location of work

Taipei City, Xinyi Dist.

NIRAS office